Rev. Edward Breidenbaugh, pastor of St. James Lutheran church of this place from 1865 to 1872, died at his home on Carlisle street last Thursday evening from kidney trouble at the great age of 84 years, 6 months and 25 days. He was a native of Lebanon county and was among the first students of the College, having entered the preparatory department here in 1836 when the college was but 4 years old. He graduated from college in 1842 and came third among the oldest graduates of the college. He pursued his theological studies at Gettysburg and Lane Seminaries and was licensed to preach in 1844. His first charge was Newville from 1844 to 49, where in 1847 he married Miss C. Elizabeth Seyover of Newville. He was pastor at Pine Grove 1849-52, Greencastle 1852-65, St. James church in this place 1865-72. After latter period he has lived retired in this place, occasionally filling the pulpits of the Lutheran churches here and elsewhere, having preached in College church the first Sunday in June. He had always enjoyed good health, even in his advanced age and his last illness covered a period of three weeks. He is survived by his wife, who is quite ill and a son and daughter, Dr. E. S. Work at Court House.

Contractor Merville E. Stallsmith is pushing the work at the Court House. The cellar has been excavated. In this work a large number of human bones were found, parts of arms and legs that had been amputated when the court house was used as a hospital after the battle and buried in the yard. The masons have started work on the stone walls. A large part of the brick wall of the old building on second floor has been taken out. At this point will be the lobby of the rear stairway. The old granite stone from building and curb have been dressed and put in shape by C. Wm. Troxel and Co. to be replaced in the new building. Every effort will be made to have the exterior of addition conform in appearance to the old building. The Court House will be somewhat torn up for August Court but not in a way to interfere with the court business.

Second Increase in Wages.

The Gettysburg Brick Company has made a second voluntary increase in wages this season, the first in May and the second to take place on July 20, on and after which date $1.50 per day will be paid. As the company operates the plant for about ten months in a year it will readily be seen what this means to our laboring class.

Capt. Long's New Book.

Capt. James T. Long has issued a new battlefield book, being entitled "The 16th Decisive Battle of the World—Gettysburg." It is of the handy pocket size, of 64 pages and 25 full page pictures, the frontispiece being a picture of General Meade. The book is bound in a bright red cover and on front cover is an excellent likeness of Capt. Long. The work is that of Gettysburg Compiler print and edition is ten thousand.

THE FIREMEN'S CONVENTION

Promises to be Largest Ever Held, Fill Halls With Cots.

A letter has been received by J. L. Williams, Chairman of the Invitation Committee from W. W. Wunder, Sec. Secretary of the Fireman's Association of State of Pennsylvania. He gives warning of preparations to be made, cots and halls to be secured and says it is going to be the largest convention ever held, which means 10,000 to 12,000 perhaps 15,000 firemen. The following is his letter.

Reading, Pa. July 14, '06
Mr. J. L. Williams,
Chairman, Invitation Committee,
Gettysburg, Pa.

Dear Sir:
Having had letter from Flemington, N. J. asking for information, as to Drum corps or Band, (Drum corps preferred,) can you give me names of such and location so they can arrange to engage them.

I have the card orders and will be sent out after Monday 16th, have just returned from Pittsburgh this evening, there will be a large delegation from there and all the western end of the state. Make provisions for sleeping quarters and the meals so they can be accommodated. How about having the Hotel people engage Halls and put cots in for sleeping the Firemen. Cots can be hired and should be engaged at once on account of the dedication of the capitol building at Harrisburg on Oct. 4th.

This meeting promises to be the largest held.

With regards to all,
I am very truly yours,
W. W. Wunder,
Secy. State Firemen's Association.

AWFUL RAILROAD ACCIDENTS

Nevin Raffensperger Loses Both Legs.

Nevin Raffensperger of this place, who is a fireman on one of the work trains on the Gettysburg and Harrisburg railway met with an awful accident yesterday morning. He was at work in the neighborhood of Boiling Springs and made an attempt to mount an engine in motion. By a misstep he was thrown under the engine and both legs were cut off. He was taken at once to Harrisburg to save his life if possible.

Mr. Raffensperger is a son of the late John Raffensperger, Bendersville. He married a Miss Bushman of this place and lived on Chambersburg St. with an interesting little family of a son and daughter.

It is said a telegram about noon stated that Mr. Raffensperger had died. Mrs. Raffensperger left to go to her husband before arrival of news.

An Italian employed on the work train on Gettysburg & Harrisburg Railway near town lost a leg yesterday morning. He was one of the crew that had been employed on the extra work about town getting ready for the encampment. He was at the coal dock near water tank and stepped out of the way to let the work train pass, then stepped back on track, supposing he would be safe. The train was shifted backward and the Italian did not notice it until too late. He jumped to get out of the way but was caught and one of his legs cut off. Drs. J. R. Dickson and H. M. Hartman being called found it necessary to amputate the leg at the hip. Whether it will be possible to save his life is in doubt. It is said the car stopped right on leg of the Italian and that he called for a knife and cut off piece which held the leg and then swooned.

Court Notes.

Order was granted to S. Clayton Haner, executor of John F. Hauer, dec'd, to sell the real estate of decedent consisting of 98 acres in Cumberland township.

Henry Kinneman was discharged as executor of the last will of Mandilla Kinneman, dec'd.

Edward A. Weaver, Esq., was appointed auditor to dispose of exception in estate of Calvin Shultz, dec'd.

Hip Broken.

W. A. Diehl of New Oxford was injured severely last week. He had hitched two young mules to a mower and started to the field to cut grass. As he threw the machine in gear the noise of the knives frightened the young animals and they ran away. The mower, on which Mr. Diehl was seated, struck a rock and he was thrown to the ground with such force as to break the thigh of his left limb in a bad manner. The machine was badly wrecked, but the mules escaped with a few scratches.

The Compiler needs money and will give a share of what is received to county church getting greatest number of votes. See contest on 3rd page.

The Mountain Valley Band will hold a festival on Saturday evening, August 4, at Arendtsville.

NATIONAL GUARD CAMP

ERECTING TENTS AND PUTTING FINISHING TOUCHES TO CAMP.

Camp to be Lighted With Gasoline—A Hike Proposed.

Camp Henderson of the National Guard of Pennsylvania is a very busy place these days. The surveying corps has been busy laying out the headquarters and the various camps. The railroads have been putting the finishing touches to their roads and switches in order to handle freight and the crowds. Much hauling has been going on, piles of wood being scattered all over camp. The laying of the water mains is about completed, cars of freight have been arriving every day, the tents and camp equipage coming from the State Arsenal at Harrisburg.

The lighting of the camp is one of the things which had to be changed at the last minute and any complaint on that score lies entirely at door of the United Telephone and Telegraph Company, the local company. They had promised to furnish all the poles necessary to light the camp with electric light. When Colonel Richardson asked for the poles last week he was informed that they could not be furnished. This was the first intimation Col. Richardson had of this fact and he was greatly annoyed. 150 poles were needed and there was none in sight except to purchase new ones at large original cost and freight. The Colonel said if he had been told several weeks prior he would have had poles cut or would have been able to make other arrangements. He expects to have the camp well lighted but it will be by gasoline. The details began to arrive yesterday and all are expected to be here today, and as they arrive they begin the erection of tents of their respective regiments.

From one point of view the camp will mean more to Gettysburg than any previous camp and that is that the sale of liquor in town will be greater than ever before. This will be due to the order that has gone forward that no canteens will be allowed in camp. Heretofore various companies in the National Guard had organized a canteen, one or more members being delegated to conduct the sale of liquor exclusively among the men of those particular companies while in camp. The proceeds of the canteen were used to purchase additional supplies for the company mess. The abolishment of the company and regimental canteen will mean that Gettysburg will get this trade.

The National Guards are expected to present a particularly natty appearance as every organization in the Guards has been supplied with the new Khaki uniforms, canvas leggings and campaign hats. While there will be hundreds of the Guard in the camp this week, the great crowd of 10,000 will not be here until Saturday.

Governor Pennypacker has arranged to spend the entire week in camp and will arrive on Saturday morning. General Stewart will precede him and have everything in readiness for the Governor's reception.

A three days "hike" will be one of the features of the camp. General J. P. S. Gobin has planned to take the entire division of 10,000 officers and men over the same ground taken by General Robert E. Lee on the retreat after the battle of Gettysburg. The plans of the ground over which they will march, halt and encamp were mapped out but had to be altered at many points as the ground was under cultivation. It is not definitely known on what day the "hike" will start but it is expected that it will be from Monday until Wednesday. The quartermasters' departments of the various regiments anticipate considerable trouble securing suitable wagons to carry the regimental supplies, etc.

King of the Diamond.

Eddie Plank gave a fine account of his wonderful pitching ability in the game last Thursday between Athletics and Detroit, in which latter was defeated by a score of 2 to 1. The "North American," said of him:

"Plank gave a grand exhibition of his chosen art. The southpaw was never in better trim. He had terrific speed and his cross fire, or Ridge Avenue ball baffled the Tigers, whose two hits were scattered even worse than our own. Plank's pitching was as steady as his habits, and that is saying a lot."

More Trolley Talk.

A committee was appointed in Frederick last week to secure the stock subscriptions still required by the Washington, Frederick and Gettysburg Railway Company before it will begin the construction of the proposed railway to Thurmont. Only a small amount is needed to complete the $50,000 fund and it was expected to raise the same within a week's time. The final survey for road is now in progress and company expects to be ready to submit specifications to contractors by August 1. A franchise to lay tracks on Fourth street, Frederick, was asked and will be acted upon by city authorities this week and favorably it is expected. The railway will be a little over 15 miles in length from Frederick to Thurmont. Then later comes the proposed extension to Emmitsburg running close to Mt. St. Mary's College and on to Gettysburg. A lot of more talk can be expected to be seen in the papers before trolley cars reach this place forming part of a trolley line between Washington and Gettysburg.

The talk in York county took another hitch last week, it being said that Hanover and York might be connected before fall. A resurvey of proposed route is on and if—if—yes if the right of way can be secured operations will be commenced at both ends of the line at once with a view to completing the line in 90 days.

RETURN OF A SOLDIER.

Wounded at Gettysburg He Delights to Come Here.

Wm. J. Sheriff of Los Angeles, California, spent last Thursday in Gettysburg, meeting friends of 1863 and going over the battlefield. He is always delighted to get back here and a day at Gettysburg is one of the great pleasures of his life.

Mr. Sheriff was a member of Co. I, 142d Pa. Vols., enlisting in Allegheny. He was wounded in first day's fight. Two balls entered his right leg and one in the left. He used his musket as a "hopping stick" and made his way from the Seminary to the Court House. He stayed there until the morning of 2nd and finding he was in the wrong place hobbled up to the Catholic church where his division hospital had been located. Later he was taken to the home of Peter Myers of this place. His father and mother came here on July 11 and on the 14th took him home. Mrs. S. M. Stewart and Mrs. Wm. Tawney accompanied him in a tour of field last week.

Mr. Sheriff tells an amusing story of one of the officers in his brigade who was very short and very stout. During the fighting, before he was wounded, a ball went through the officer's hat and the boys called out, "Lie down, General, lie down." He replied, "Why in the devil should I lie down? I'm as tall lying down as standing up."

Mr. Sheriff removed from Pittsburg to Los Angeles many years ago and thinks the name of his new home is most appropriate. He is a large property owner in Los Angeles, the part of Washington street in which his property is situated is called "Sheriff Place." He is a director in the "Bank of Los Angeles" and Vice President of the Manhattan Savings Bank of same place.

There are about 2,000 Pennsylvanians in Los Angeles and they maintain a large and flourishing "Pennsylvania Society" of which Mr. Sheriff is Vice President and Charles Shields, son of Mr. and Mrs. Craig Shields, of this place is treasurer.

CUMBERLAND TWP. ROADS

PLANS PREPARED FOR 3 1-2 MILES OF TELFORD ROAD.

Seven Different Roads to be Benefitted by New Sections, Each Over a Half Mile Long.

In another column will be found the advertisement of the Gettysburg Battlefield Commissioners, asking for bids for the construction of 18,766 feet or over three and one-half miles of Telford road. Every inch of this proposed road building is located in Cumberland township and upon the highways of that township which have been built and repaired at the expense of the township.

The plans show that this three and a half miles of Telford road is not to be all in one stretch but divided into six or seven parts, so that the citizens of the township traveling to town from as many directions will obtain the benefits of the good roads.

The Telford road on the Taneytown road is proposed to be extended from its present termination in a southerly direction for more than a half mile, 3,233 feet, to the School House road.

The plans call for about a half mile of road on the Fairfield road, from the Confederate avenue on Seminary ridge westward to the next ridge near the Ingersoll home. The length being 2,700 feet.

Over a mile of road is proposed running north from borough limits, 3,275 feet out the Carlisle road to the forks of road at the old Blocher home, then out the Newville road 2,400 feet which would extend past the Ross home near a culvert in road several hundred feet beyond.

The Mummaburg road is mapped from the borough limits out over Forney's hill to the avenue immediately west of the Forney home.

On the Harrisburg road 2,872 feet are laid out from the borough limits at home of W. H. Lott to the bridge over Rock Creek.

It is also proposed to connect the Wheatfield road with the Emmitsburg road over the public road, a distance of 795 feet and then extend the Telford road south on the Emmitsburg road 465 feet, about as far as the old peach orchard faced on the road.

These roads would not only benefit citizens of the township but prove advantageous to tourists. Starting in on Harrisburg road the tourist party could make the complete circuit of the First Day's field and then on to the Second and Third Days' field out over the Round Tops and back to the National Cemetery and at no time be off Telford roads.

It is possible that the entire three and a half miles may not be built at once. The amount of the bid may determine whether all of it will be constructed this year. As the proposed parts will be so advantageous it is to be hoped that the public will have the entire three and a half miles this year.

THOUGHTS AND THINGS

WITH A SONG OF "WHEN DEMOCRACY WILL DIE."

Why Should Not United States
Make Rock Creek as it Was in 1863.

The Congressional Record states that John Wesley Gaines of Tennessee, addressing the House said, "Mr. Speaker, I know that what I shall read the Republicans will enjoy, because it is entitled, 'When Democracy Will Die.' An Old Hickory Democrat has put into verse the following conditions under which and the time when Democracy will die."

"When the lion eats grass like an ox,
And the fishworm swallows the whale;
When the terrapin knits wotten socks,
And the hare is outrun by the snail;
When serpents walk upright like men,
And doodle bugs travel like frogs;
When the grasshopper feeds on the hen,
And feathers are found on hogs;
When Thomas eats swim in the air,
And elephants roost upon trees;
When insects in summer are rare,
And snuff never makes people sneeze;
When the fish creep over dry land,
And mules on velocipedes ride;
When foxes lay eggs in the sand,
And women in dress take no pride;
When Dutchmen no longer drink beer,
And girls get to preaching on time;
When the billy goat butts from the rear,
And treason no longer is crime;
When the humming bird brays like an ass,
And limburger smells like cologne;
When ploughshares are made out of glass,
And hearts of Tennesseans are stone;
When sense grows in Republican heads,
And wool on the hydraulic ram;
Then the Democratic party will be dead,
And this country not worth a dam."

It may be a far cry from above poem to Rock Creek, yet thought has taken the journey and it is proposed to follow on.

Thoughts of Rock Creek may have developed by reason of the fact that the Gettysburg Battlefield Commissioners have at their disposal the recent appropriation of Congress for battlefield purposes. Of course $15,000 of it is for roads in Cumberland township but that leaves $57,000 for general purposes. Plans must be under consideration for the spending of a portion of it and it is submitted that no better use could be made of a small part of it for the purpose of preserving the battlefield as it was when the great battle was fought in 1863 than to make Rock Creek look like it was in battle days.

The effort of the Battlefield Commissioners has been from the beginning of their work to preserve the field as much like it was when the battle was fought as possible. Breastworks have been rebuilt and preserved. Timber has been replanted to conform to the wooded tracts of those days. Numerous changes have kept this one idea in mind. The country as it was in 1863 has been the guide. Yet all this work of reproducing and preserving can never be complete until Rock Creek is made to look like the stream of 1863.

The creek now is a pitiable caricature of what it was then. At that time McAllister's dam was unbroken. It was not then in the condition it has been for the last quarter of a century. High waters broke it and it was never repaired or rebuilt. When the dam existed the water was backed the length and breadth of the channel to beyond the bridge on the Harrisburg road, a distance of three miles at least.

Past, Present and Future Paint

The best "past" paint is the paint which has worn down evenly, leaving the surface ready for repainting without the need of expensive scraping and "burning-off."

The best "present" paint is the paint which is applied with least labor, covers the most surface per gallon, and looks the best when on.

The best "future" paint is the paint which lasts without cracking or peeling, affording perfect protection for the greatest number of years.

Viewed in any of these ways,

Lewis
Pure White Lead

(Made by the Old Dutch Process)

mixed with Lewis Linseed Oil is best. Good painters all say so.

There were points where the channel was narrow and the water rapid but these narrow channels connected good sized bodies of water. At almost any point south of Honesdale road it would have reached above a man's knees and at many points above the waist line and for an army to have waded was an undertaking worth mentioning. The creek was always bank full according to the formation of the banks yet to be seen, banks which are yards away from the present stream.

Major-General Ed. Johnson, commanding a division of Ewell's Corps tells in his official report how the battery on Benner's Hill opened fire about 4 p. m. on second day and after two hours the hill had to be abandoned, and how he then advanced his infantry to the assault of the Union Army's strong position—a rugged and rocky mountain—Culp's Hill—heavily timbered and difficult of assault, a natural fortification, rendered more formidable by deep intrenchments and thick abatis. He said by time his brigades had crossed Rock Creek and reached the base of the mountain it was dark. On July 2nd there would have been two or more hours of light before it was dark. While an army moves slowly yet the creek must have been an obstruction, the crossing of which would have taken time. A boy or man today could go from Benner's Hill down to Two Rocks across the creek on dry land either above or below the Two Rocks and reach the base of the hill at the third bridge on the avenue in about ten minutes, or fifteen minutes without any hurry.

General Geo. H. Stuart commanding a brigade of Johnson's division describes the crossing of the creek, "The right wing of the brigade crossed the creek considerably in advance of the center and left wing, owing to the fact that the order to move by a right half wheel was not immediately understood on the left and also to the greater number of natural obstacles to be overcome by that part of the brigade. The slope of the hill at the point where the brigade crossed the creek commences about 50 feet from the bank and being thickly wooded, the charge of our right wing was made under great disadvantage." In speaking of the night on the morning of the third day he describes how they fell back to the creek where they remained during the rest of the day and toward midnight recrossed the creek, speaking of the creek always as a natural obstacle of importance.

Those familiar with the story of the battle recall the number of wounded men found along the creek, those who had crawled there to quench their hot thirst and cool their parched throats. If a survivor or the descendant of a survivor returned to the creek to note where the succor of water had been obtained, he would swear that modern Rock Creek was not on the face of the globe in the days of 1863.

Why not make Rock Creek look like it should to the surviving veterans of the battle.

Would it cost a great sum to do this. It could be made an expensive undertaking, yet a small sum ought to be sufficient for this purpose. The land at the dam could be acquired and a good permanent cement dam need not be costly. The Government need not own all the lands adjacent to the creek for miles. The National Park Act no doubt contemplates such ownership but a form of agreement with land owners would permit the Government to clean the water course so that when the dam was completed the gathered waters in Rock Creek would fill the old channel as they did in battle days.

Why not make Rock Creek as it was in 1863.

L. T. L. Meeting.

The county meeting of Loyal Temperance Legion was held at Wildwood the home of Miss Margaret McMillan. It was an Echo meeting of the convention which was held at New Castle from June 27th to 30th. An invitation was extended to the Y's and W. C. T. U. and those together with the Legioners made quite a gathering. The meeting opened with singing the County Song, after which Miss Rose Pitzer offered prayer. The trip to New Castle was given by Miss McMillan, Wednesday's report by Anna Hollebaugh, Thursday's, by Hattie Johns, Friday's, the Alumni Picnic by Mark Eckert, Friday evening by Susie Black of Guernsey, Miss McMillan then gave a short account of the trip home. The minutes of the last meeting which was held at the home of Miss Belle Grist of Guernsey were then read. After the other business the following officers for the next six months were elected, Pres., Arthur Grist, V. P. George Rice; Sec. Anna Hollebaugh; Treas., Mrs. George Myers; Superintendents of departments of work as follows, of Press Mrs. Peters, of Railroad Mark Eckert, of Flower Nettie Trostle, of Mercy Alice Black, of Sabbath Observance, Ella Widener, of Parlor Meeting Lizzie Sheely, of Contest, Margaret McMillan, Crusader Reporter Hattie Johns; Anti Narcotics, Miss Mary Grist. CLUB LIFE ECONOMIES

POOR MEN IN THE SWELL ORGANIZATIONS OF NEW YORK.

A Democracy Where All, Regardless of Income, Are Equal—Membership in a First Rate Club Regarded as a Profitable Investment.

A good many country visitors are disappointed when they learn the sober truth that New York has no clubs composed exclusively of millionaires. It is harder still to make country folk believe that hundreds of men join the so called swell clubs in large part from motives of economy.

There are scarcely three clubs in the city that do not include a considerable number of poor men in their membership. The average income of the whole membership of the ten best known clubs in the city is probably near $10,000 a year than $50,000 a year, and almost every one of these clubs includes some scores of men with incomes well below $10,000 and a good many with incomes well below $5,000.

There is a real democracy of New York club life. Youths in their early twenties and just beginning their careers on very moderate salaries frequent truly palatial clubhouses, breakfast in rooms such as few princes ever use and lounge before fireplaces that are to be matched only in the most splendid buildings of Europe.

The poor man's credit at the club is as good as the rich man's, and both are impartially posted when they neglect to pay their bills in good season. There are a good many instances also in which the monthly bills of the poor man are higher than those of his rich fellow member, for the frequenters of clubs are apt to be the poorer rather than the richer members.

Many a man of small means regards his membership in a first rate club in the light of a profitable investment. Such a man, if a confirmed bachelor, has probably lived for twenty years within half a block of the club, paying a few hundreds a year for a small bedroom and finding all his luxuries in the apartments of the clubhouse.

Without being in the least mean he makes of the club a money saving institution for himself. Its comfortable lounging rooms save him annually from $300 to $1,000 a year in rent, according to the location in which he has his modest lodgings. After that he saves a fair percentage on everything he eats and drinks at the club.

His simple breakfast costs him perhaps 10 per cent less than it would cost at any restaurant he would be likely to frequent, and the same is true of his dinners. If he takes three-fourths of his meals at the club he saves annually about $100 in tips.

If he drinks wine at dinner he saves from 10 to 25 per cent upon every bottle. If he permits himself the luxury of a cab he saves a handsome percentage by ordering it through the club and avoids all possibility of a row with the cabby over the amount of the fare. Many a man writes all his letters of a social character and some of a business character at the club, and thus saves from $15 to $40 a year in stationery.

He need buy no books, nor need he subscribe to a library, for there is the club library free for his use. He never need buy a periodical or even a newspaper save when he travels, for all that he reads are freely supplied by the club. And the enjoyment of all these things imposes upon him no considerable expenditure for extravagant luxuries. He is sure, especially in the college clubs, to find plenty of men with like modest incomes and simple tastes as himself, and he may sit for hours with cronies over the cafe table without spending money that he cannot afford and without giving offense to the servants of the house committee.

Most club members probably do not keep a debit and credit account with the club, but the man of modest means and moderate habits would find the examination of such an account a matter of great satisfaction. Such a man, paying $250 as an entrance fee and $75 a year in dues, is likely to find himself at the end of twenty years a long way ahead of the game. The club in twenty years has cost him rather less than $2,000 for entrance fees, dues and contributions to the Christmas box, and his savings by reason of the club have been from $10,000 to $16,000.—New York Sun.

A Sister's Love.

A Boston clergyman whose work takes him among the poor of that town tells a pretty story of sisterly love existing among the humble and unfortunate. One day a pale and ragged girl of about ten years was seen going along the street carrying on her back her crippled brother, nearly as old as she. A stranger stopped her by saying that she was over-exerting herself. "He is too heavy for you to carry," he said. The child of the ghetto looked up at him reproachfully, saying: "He ain't heavy. He is my brother."

Capsicum.

The active principle of capsicum, or red pepper, is a volatile oil known as capsaicin. It is so exceedingly acrid that a quarter of a grain exposed to the air in a room will diffuse itself throughout the apartment and cause all present to cough and sneeze as though the pepper had been taken into the mouth or nostrils.

Superlative fame is where a man has not only forced his name into everybody's mouth, but has kept it there until the first class newspapers are spelling it the same way every time they mention it.—Pack.

TORTURING PAIN.

Half This Man's Sufferings Would Have Killed Many a Person, But Doan's Cured Him.

Thousands of grateful people are telling every day how Doan's Kidney Pills cured them of distressing and dangerous kidney and bladder troubles.

Yet other thousands are suffering every day from these same ills. Why? They are either very negligent or very skeptical. Neglect of kidney disorders leads to dropsy, diabetes, Bright's disease and other fatal diseases.

Sincere, honest testimony like the following should convince every skeptic.

A. C. Sprague, stock dealer, of Normal, Ill., writes: "For two whole years I was doing nothing but buying medicines to cure my kidneys. I do not think that any man ever suffered as I did and lived. The pain in my back was so bad that I could not sleep at night. I could not ride a horse and sometimes was unable even to ride in a car. My condition was critical when I sent for Doan's Kidney Pills. I used three boxes and they cured me. Now I can go anywhere and do as much as anybody. I sleep well and feel no discomfort at all."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mr. Sprague will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sold by all dealers; price, fifty cents per box.

MIRACULOUS CURE
BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"When my little boy was six months old, he had eczema. The sores extended so quickly over the whole body that we at once called in the doctor. We then went to another doctor, but he could not help him, and in our despair we went to a third one. Matters became so bad that he had regular holes in his cheeks, large enough to put a finger into. The food had to be given with a spoon, for his mouth was covered with crusts as thick as a finger, and whenever he opened the mouth they began to bleed and suppurate, as did also his eyes. Hands, arms, chest, and back, in short the whole body, was covered over and over. We had no rest by day or night. Whenever he was laid in his bed, we had to pin his hands down; otherwise he would scratch his face, and make an open sore. I think his face must have itched most fearfully."

ALFONSO HOHRATH.

"We finally thought nothing could help, and I had made up my mind to send my wife with the child to Europe, hoping that the sea air might cure him, otherwise he was to be put under good medical care there. But, Lord be blessed, matters came differently, and we soon saw a miracle. A friend of ours spoke about Cuticura. We made a trial with Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Resolvent, and within ten days or two weeks we noticed a decided improvement. Just as quickly as the sickness had appeared it also began to disappear, and within ten weeks the child was absolutely well, and his skin was smooth and white as never before."

Japan's Guarantee For Power.

More than this, these wise, keen-eyed people that sit watching intently the daily trend of the world's progress know well enough that the real struggles for world power are to be commercial, not military; and it is on commercial and industrial fields that chiefly they expect to win glory and domination and empire for Japan.

For such contests they have two weapons of astounding and unprecedented power.

First, a working population, intelligent, capable, facile, orderly, extremely industrious, and having a low standard of living.

Second, a government astute as to modern conditions, resolutely determined to force Japanese influence, Japanese manufacturing and Japanese commerce, and utterly unscrupulous as to the means it uses to that end.

The world has never seen anything like this combination; it has never seen nor imagined nor dreamed of the stupendous results that can be secured by it. With cheap and efficient labor Japan can produce at lower cost than any other nation; with its skillful and indomitable government it can build its industrial forces to imposing greatness; with the two, in existing conditions of private enterprise, it can annihilate competition.

For individuals can complete with individuals, firms with firms, corporations with corporations, trusts with trusts; but neither individual, firm, corporation, nor trust can compete with a government. And back of every great manufacturing, commercial, or financial enterprise in Japan, back of it or actively involved in it, is the Japanese Government, the greatest governmental trader in the world.—Charles Edward Russel, in Soldiers of the Common Good, in "Everybody's Magazine" for July.

Wellman's Polar Airship.

Although there have been no material developments in aeronautical matters since our last review, there has appeared an increasing interest in all that pertains to aerial navigation. An example of that interest appears in the plan again to attempt to solve the secret of the North pole by a voyage through the air. It is now nearly ten years since the ill-fated Andree left Spitzbergen, never again to be seen. But Andree's balloon was but a drifting gas bag, while Mr. Wellman now proposes to make the attempt in a modern dirigible balloon, constructed according to the latest experience of Santos-Dumont, Renard, Sureout, Herveu and other experts. It is believed that by the starting from North Spitzbergen, the journey can be made in about ten days, and that it may be possible to construct a machine capable of remaining in the air from twenty to twenty-five days. The expedition which is planned under the auspices of a Chicago newspaper, is on a large scale, the estimated cost being $250,000, and a staff of 35 men being required for the equipment. The general plans for the dirigible have been made by M. Louis Godard, the balloon being 50 metres in length, and 16 metres greatest diameter. When inflated with hydrogen it will have a lifting power of more than 7,000 kilograms, or nearly 16,000 pounds. Two motors, one of 50 and one of 25 horse power, are to be used, and since the art of gasoline-motor construction has reached a point where weights of seven and five-tenths pounds per horse power are attainable the motors will weigh less than 600 pounds. It is proposed to carry five

Can She Save Them?

Many a poor mother who feels that those she holds most precious are gradually slipping away from her over the terrible precipice of disease, would be thankful to know what Doctor Pierce's wonderful "Golden Medical Discovery" has done to restore thousands of weak and wasted children to complete rounded, rosy, healthy, activity and life.

"Five years ago this last fall I was taken down with a fever, and was very bad for several months," writes Mrs. H. M. Bell of Hiram, Ohio. "She continued to be thankful to know what Doctor Pierce's wonderful 'Golden Medical Discovery' has done to restore thousands of weak and wasted children to complete rounded, rosy, healthy, activity and life."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. One little Pellet is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic.

Denatured Alcohol.

The denatured alcohol bill enacted into a law by Congress in May will give free alcohol which is going to play an important part in the development of the country.

The value of free alcohol to the public can be better appreciated when the many uses of this product are known to the farmers of the country. Uncle Sam being desirous of giving the public the full benefit of the opportunities in store, purposes having an exhibit at the Jamestown Exposition showing the development and uses of denatured alcohol which is made from the products of the farm and garden.

This exhibit will be in charge of competent government officials of the Experiment Stations of the Department of Agriculture.

In connection with the government exhibit will be exhibits of various kinds of internal combustion engines using denatured alcohol for fuel. Farmers will learn at the Jamestown Exposition how to save labor in a thousand different ways. They will be shown how they can utilize machinery for chopping wood, chopping stock feed, pumping water and many other things. And the farmer's wife can employ machinery for doing her churning, washing, operating her sewing machine and in many other ways to save labor. Special machinery is already being made for utilizing this new and cheap fuel and so economical will be this fuel alcohol that every farmer can make his own supply from the waste products of his farm.

Uncle Sam will also show the public how to use denatured alcohol as a fuel for heating and cooking purposes at home and for lighting the houses and country roads. He will teach the farmers how they may save time and expense by making their fuel and lights at so small a cost that their living expenses will be reduced to a minimum and their conveniences so greatly increased that they will find real luxury in living on a farm.

The Jamestown Exposition, where Uncle Sam's new show will be given to everybody, will open its gates to the public on the historic shores of Hampton Roads, near Norfolk, Va., April 20, 1907, and close Nov. 30, 1907. It will be an international exposition, given in honor of the three hundredth anniversary of the first permanent English settlement in America.

None Too Young to Toil.

When women's wrappers are paid for at the rate of forty-nine cents a dozen, and silk waists at eight cents each, it is easy to understand why even the help of tiny children must be called upon to earn a pittance for the makers. If the children can do no more than thread needles or pull out bastings their assistance is precious; if they are intelligent enough to sew on buttons, or make buttonholes, their help is more precious still. As soon as baby fingers can move intelligently, they play an increasingly important part in the labor of the household.

It seems incredible, I know, to talk of an infant three years old working, and some may regard the statement that such little ones do work as a sensational exaggeration. But it is literally true, as is proved by the testimony of witnesses of unimpeachable character. A baby three years old can straighten out tobacco leaves or stick the stems of artificial flowers through the petals. A child of four can put the covers on paper boxes, or even help to past them. A child from four to six years of age can pull out bastings and sew on buttons. A child of eight can make artificial flowers almost as well as an adult, and can make paper bags just as well, and almost as quickly. Many a girl from eight to twelve years old can finish boys' "knee-pants" as well as her mother. In our greatest and richest city, babies who should be in the kindergartens have been compelled to work in such occupations as I have described, and others of a like nature.—John Spargo in Woman's Home Companion for July.

The Greatest Wheat Country of the Future.

You might have driven here for hundreds of miles over unscarred, virgin prairie when they were "building" the road in Parliament three years ago. Now that they are building it in earnest all the homesteads are taken for ten miles on either side of the right of way, while wheat land, that lay offered at five dollars an acre, is selling and reselling at from ten to fifteen. Already they are ploughing and planting, and they will be ready to ship when the last spike is driven in the line that is to link the Great Lakes with the wheat-fields of the West. Steadily for the past two decades the wheat grower has worked his way up the valley of Red River of the North. Year by year he has gained a little in latitude and in quality. No field reclaimed has ever been abandoned, for the first years are the hard years.

On more than one occasion last year the daily receipts of wheat at Winnipeg exceeded the total received at Duluth, Minneapolis, and Chicago combined. That is the main reason why Winnipeg is growing at rate of 20,000 a year, and building at the rate of a million dollars a month. And all this story, which the world is only beginning to believe, is the reason for the first Grand Trunk Pacific bonds being subscribed for ten times over. It is hard to write of this wonderful West without appearing to exaggerate. Like good wine, it grows better as the years go by.

When vast areas lay unbroken the heavy coating of wild grass held the frost and shortened the season. The mean temperature of the whole country is being gradually changed by the breaking of wild land. The dread and fear of frost has passed from Portage Plains in Manitoba, as it passed years ago from the Red River Valley, as it is disappearing today from Quile Plains and all the vast and fertile valley of the two Saskatchewan.

Four million acres in western Canada yielded ninety million bushels of wheat last year.—From "The Grand Trunk Pacific," by Cy. Warman in the July Scribner.

Denatured Alcohol.

The denatured alcohol bill enacted into a law by Congress in May will give free alcohol which is going to play an important part in the development of the country.

The value of free alcohol to the public can be better appreciated when the many uses of this product are known to the farmers of the country. Uncle Sam being desirous of giving the public the full benefit of the opportunities in store, purposes having an exhibit at the Jamestown Exposition showing the development and uses of denatured alcohol which is made from the products of the farm and garden.

This exhibit will be in charge of competent government officials of the Experiment Stations of the Department of Agriculture.

In connection with the government exhibit will be exhibits of various kinds of internal combustion engines using denatured alcohol for fuel. Farmers will learn at the Jamestown Exposition how to save labor in a thousand different ways. They will be shown how they can utilize machinery for chopping wood, chopping stock feed, pumping water and many other things. And the farmer's wife can employ machinery for doing her churning, washing, operating her sewing machine and in many other ways to save labor. Special machinery is already being made for utilizing this new and cheap fuel and so economical will be this fuel alcohol that every farmer can make his own supply from the waste products of his farm.

Uncle Sam will also show the public how to use denatured alcohol as a fuel for heating and cooking purposes at home and for lighting the houses and country roads. He will teach the farmers how they may save time and expense by making their fuel and lights at so small a cost that their living expenses will be reduced to a minimum and their conveniences so greatly increased that they will find real luxury in living on a farm.

The Jamestown Exposition, where Uncle Sam's new show will be given to everybody, will open its gates to the public on the historic shores of Hampton Roads, near Norfolk, Va., April 20, 1907, and close Nov. 30, 1907. It will be an international exposition, given in honor of the three hundredth anniversary of the first permanent English settlement in America.

None Too Young to Toil.

When women's wrappers are paid for at the rate of forty-nine cents a dozen, and silk waists at eight cents each, it is easy to understand why even the help of tiny children must be called upon to earn a pittance for the makers. If the children can do no more than thread needles or pull out bastings their assistance is precious; if they are intelligent enough to sew on buttons, or make buttonholes, their help is more precious still. As soon as baby fingers can move intelligently, they play an increasingly important part in the labor of the household.

It seems incredible, I know, to talk of an infant three years old working, and some may regard the statement that such little ones do work as a sensational exaggeration. But it is literally true, as is proved by the testimony of witnesses of unimpeachable character. A baby three years old can straighten out tobacco leaves or stick the stems of artificial flowers through the petals. A child of four can put the covers on paper boxes, or even help to past them. A child from four to six years of age can pull out bastings and sew on buttons. A child of eight can make artificial flowers almost as well as an adult, and can make paper bags just as well, and almost as quickly. Many a girl from eight to twelve years old can finish boys' "knee-pants" as well as her mother. In our greatest and richest city, babies who should be in the kindergartens have been compelled to work in such occupations as I have described, and others of a like nature.—John Spargo in Woman's Home Companion for July.

Making Money From Bees.

The business of bee-keeping, according to a writer in the New Idea Woman's Magazine for July, is "light, fascinating and pleasant." In fact, as the bees do the work, it seems that this occupation is the nearest that there is to having a number of good investments with certain dividends. "The initial outlay," says this writer, "may be very small: fifteen dollars will secure a modern hive, a colony of good Italian bees, with a queen, and all of the necessary accessories. As soon as a little experience has been gained, the apiary may be built up by adding nuclei (a few hundred working bees) together with new queens at intervals at the cost of a few dollars. The natural increase will then result in an apiary of fifty or one hundred colonies in a few years."

Sour Stomach

No appetite, loss of strength, nervousness, headache, constipation, bad breath, general debility, sour risings, and catarrh of the stomach are all due to indigestion. Kodol cures indigestion. This new discovery represents the natural juices of digestion as they exist in a healthy stomach, combined with the greatest known tonic and reconstructive properties. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure does not only cure indigestion and dyspepsia, but this famous remedy cures all stomach troubles by cleansing, purifying, sweetening and strengthening the mucous membranes lining the stomach.

Dr. S. S. East, of Ravenwood, W. Va., says: "I was troubled with sour stomach for twenty years. Kodol cured me and we are now using it in our family."

DEMOCRATIC STATE TICKET FOR GOVERNOR.
LEWIS EMERY, JR.,
of McKean County.

Who declared before his nomination "Have fought Machine politics for thirty years and shall continue. Never made political bargains, do not intend to, am not under contract or promise of any kind, am not bound to recognize any one directly or indirectly, am my own boss and promise to remain such."

FOR LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR.
JERES. BLACK,
of York.

Adams will rally for the worthy son of Chamcey and grandson of Jere the Great, from the mother county.

FOR AUDITOR GENERAL.
WM. T. CREASY, of Columbia County.

Farmer Creasy of Columbia county, the persistent foe of the Machine for ten years in the Legislature.

FOR SEC'Y OF INTERNAL AFFAIRS.
JOHN J. GREEN, of Philadelphia.

Who has fought the Gang and for Reform in Philadelphia.

A Matchless, Winning Ticket For Good Government.

The "New York Sun" beholds the trend of the times towards Bryan and interposed with the following prophesy last week. "The next Governor of the State of New York will be a Democrat and the next Governor of the State of New York will be the next President of the United States." In other words, Geo. B. McClellan, or was Wm. R. Hearst meant?

EX-GOVERNOR STONE landed one on Boies Penrose last week by sarcastically remarking that "all the principles are embraced in the Republican platform and that the Ten Commandments would have been inserted had Penrose been acquainted with them." He might as well have added as the Machine knew nothing about latter they would break all the other principles with impunity.

The Lincoln-Republicans completed the fusion with Democracy last week in the interest of good government by accepting the resignations of their candidates for Lieutenant Governor, Auditor General and Secretary of Internal Affairs and nominating the Democrats Black, Creasy and Green for these respective offices. Now altogether for the overthrow of the Machine and enthronement of good government.

OFFICIAL action has illustrated the adage that the Republican party loves a trust. Last week bids were opened by Navy Department for armor plate and the armor plate trust was outbid by thousands of dollars, yet this love of a trust prevails to take from the lowest bidder half of the contract and give it to the trust at the price of the independent company. There is nothing fair and square when it comes to the love of a trust.

STATE TREASURER BERRY has officially declined the nomination for Governor by the Prohibition party, believing that the Democratic ticket is the one all good citizens should unite upon. The issue is clear and distinct, the old Machine in the garb of respectability trying to fool the people to be corrupt and contented as against that awakened determination to redeem the old Keystone State and give her good government. There is no middle ground for the Prohibitionists in this issue and they should join hands with the Democrats and Lincoln Republicans.

THE bronze doors of the Capitol at Harrisburg have been uncovered and the bronze heads remain. Pennypacker Quay, Penrose, Durham, et al. Ex-Governor W. A. Stone is indignant over the heads, had told the architect not to attempt anything of the kind, and as President of the Building Commission expected his desires to prevail. He says that his head is not going to remain on the door of the Capitol if he has to file it off himself. He added if heads are to be reproduced they should be men who have performed some illustrious service for the State, like Franklin, Hancock and Meade. Right you are, ex-Gov. Stone.

THE assertion has been met not once but repeatedly that Fyler's murder trial will not come off in August. District Attorney Keith will be prepared for the Commonwealth but it is said the prisoner has made little or no preparation for trial, and if this condition lasts until court it is thought an embarrassing situation will be presented when delay is asked, with a man's life at stake. The crime being committed May 30 there shouldn't be the shadow of an excuse for the prisoner making no preparation in the three months. Delay has been largely responsible for Judge Lynch. Law abiding communities become exasperated with inexcusable delays and lawlessness breaks out. To prevent delay the District Attorney should notify prisoner that if Grand Jury finds bill at August court, he should be prepared for trial at that court and any delay will be strenuously fought.

Challenge From L. M. Buehler.

L. M. Buehler is seeking the worst case of dyspepsia or constipation in Gettysburg or vicinity to test Dr. Howard's new specific for the cure of those diseases.

So confident is he that this remarkable medicine will effect a lasting cure in a short time, that he offers to refund the money should it not be successful.

In order to secure the quickest possible introduction L. M. Buehler will sell a regular fifty cent package of this medicine at half price, 25 cents.

This specific of Dr. Howard's will cure sick headache, dizzy feelings, constipation, dyspepsia, and all forms of malaria and liver trouble. It does not simply give relief for a time; it makes permanent and complete cures.

It will regulate the bowels, tone up the whole intestinal tract, give you an appetite, make food taste good and digest well, and increase vigor. Joy and happiness will take the place of that "don't care whether I live or die" feeling.

Take advantage of L. M. Buehler's challenge and secure a bottle of Dr. Howard's specific at half price, with his personal guarantee to refund your money if it does not help you.

Sunday School Institutes.

The Sunday School Institute of the First District held in the Reformed Church of New Chester Thursday afternoon and evening July 12 was one of the most successful in the history of the Association.

The officers elected for the coming year were H. T. Weaver, President; R. Wm. Bream, Vice President; S. A. Hammond, Treasurer; Miss Ruth Clutz, Secretary; Mrs. O. D. McMillan, Supt. of Home Dept.; Miss Luella McAllister, Supt. of Primary Dept.; Rev. Snoko, Supt. of Normal Class Dept.

Conferences were held on the work of the different departments.

At the evening session addresses were made by Rev. W. W. Hartman and Rev. C. E. Snoko, Gettysburg and Rev. Geo. N. Laufer of New Oxford.

Miss Ruth Clutz of Gettysburg sang a beautiful solo entitled "Crossing the Bar."

Resolutions were adopted thanking the pastor, Rev. Mauger, and the people of New Chester for their kind hospitality; the ministers and others on the program for their addresses; the church choir of New Chester and Miss Ruth Clutz of Gettysburg for the excellent music.

The Institute of the Third S. S. District was held in Christ Reformed Church near Littlestown on Sunday July 8.

The officers elected for the coming year were Harry E. Bair, President, D. C. Rudisill, Jacob Miller, Wm. Stansbury, Geo. F. Duttera, John D. Schwartz and Geo. M. Conover, Vice Presidents, Mervin Wintrobe, Secretary, and Abia Schmucker, Treasurer.

At the afternoon session Rev. F. S. Lindaman conducted devotional services and made address of welcome with response by the District President, D. C. Rudisill. After roll call, reading and adoption of a new constitution a number of important subjects were discussed. "When and Why Should a Child be Connected with the Church" treated by Rev. John Jay Hill and "How to Bring the Church into the Sunday School" by Rev. J. Hamilton Smith. Beside music by the choir Miss Marguerite Schwartz sang a solo.

The evening session opened with a song service conducted by Harvey Schwartz, followed by address by Prof. W. A. Burgoon on "The Effect of Negligence on the part of Sunday School Teachers." Rev. C. P. Bastian on "What Place Should the Bible Have in the Home" and Rev. S. P. Mauger on "The Rewards of the Faithful Sunday School Teacher." Misses Eliza Sheely and Kate Breighner sang a duet.

There was a good attendance at the Institute and much interest manifested in proceedings.

The Sunday School Convention of the 6th District met at McKnightstown July 11 and was opened with music and prayer by Rev. D. T. Koser. After reading of the minutes the following committees were appointed: Nominating, Miss Alice Miller, Roy Knouse and Harman Spense; Resolutions, Rev. D. T. Koser, Norman Walter and I. S. Orner.

Eleven schools responded to roll call. Bendersville, Biglerville Lutheran, Benders Union, Calvary, Arendtsville Lutheran and Reformed, Fobrs Cashtown, Mt. Carmel and Munnasburg.

The convention never having adopted a constitution, one was read and after several changes adopted.

Rev. S. A. Diehl spoke on the "Par pose of Teacher" and Dr. T. J. Barkley on "The Beautiful in Teaching." Normal Work was explained by Norman Walter, followed by short address by F. H. Berwager.

The evening session was opened with a song service and prayer by F. H. Berwager. President J. F. Bushey then conducted the meeting.

The nominating committee reported for Pres., Hiram Lady, Vice Pres., Charles Rebert, Sec., Ella Weldner, Treas., Blaine Bushey, Supt. of Primary Department, Rev. D. T. Koser, Supt. of Home Department, Miss Lillie Bennett, Supt. of Normal Department, Miss Alice Miller. The report was accepted except Rev. Koser declined and Mrs. Mary Bell was nominated instead.

The Committee on Resolutions made report which was adopted.

1st Resolved, That the Sunday School Convention of the 6th District extend its most hearty thanks to the kind people of McKnightstown for their generous hospitality and cheerful entertainment.

2nd Resolved, That we appreciate the labors of the entertainment committee in providing such pleasant homes for us during our sojourn in their pleasant village.

3. That we beg the musicians who have rendered such excellent music both vocal and instrumental to accept our appreciations of their help in the convention.

4. Resolved that we as a convention be pleased with present districting of our county.

5. Resolved that we heartily approve of normal work in Sunday Schools and hope that it will soon be much more generally adopted in our county.

Rev. D. T. Koser spoke on subject of "Children." "The Parents Relations to the Sunday School" was then discussed by Rev. S. A. Diehl, and "Sunday School and Christian Citizenship" by Rev. T. C. Hesson and "Relation of Local Sunday School to the State Work" by F. H. Berwager. Music occupied the periods between discussions. After collection and remarks by the retiring President J. F. Bushey the meeting adjourned.

Pastor Chosen.

The Christ or College Lutheran church congregation on Sunday held an election to call a pastor and Rev. Harry Austadt of York was elected by vote of 65 to 7. The call was afterwards made unanimous. This is the fifth election held since resignation of Rev. M. Coover two years ago, the four previously elected having declined, namely Rev. L. S. Black, Rev. A. B. Van Ormer, Rev. Geo. O. Reen and Rev. H. C. Alleman, D. D. Mr. Austadt graduated from College in 1890 and has been engaged in printing establishment of P. Anstandt & Son of York, never having occupied any pulpit regularly. It is said call will be accepted.

York Springs Wants a Lock-Up.

A petition is being circulated in York Springs this week requesting the Town Council to build a lock-up for the borough. The citizens propose that the constable take a hand in keeping the peace and when the disorderly are encountered that they be thrown into the depths of the lock-up.

York Springs has been a special sufferer from the disorderly on two recent occasions. On July 4 the town had a horse race and base ball game and every one was enjoying the occasion when a fight occurred, which is said to have been caused by too much John Barleycorn.

Again last Saturday night there was some disorder. A festival was on at Lathimore and at the old Springs and there was a large crowd at both places, part of which was traveling between the two places through the town. A great noise got out the constable.

York Springs is of the opinion if young blood cooled off in a lockup when there was disorder, the peace of the borough would be improved.

ACCIDENT NEAR MT. ROCK.

Mt. Rock, July 16.—The harvest is pretty well over in this neighborhood. We had some heavy yields of grain in this section. One man reports a piece of wheat of three acres making four, four horse loads and another a field of sixteen acres making seventeen four horse loads.

The Catholics of Conowago Chapel will hold their annual picnic on Saturday, July 25. All are welcome.

John C. Myers, son of J. F. Myers, of Mt. Rock met with an accident while helping a neighbor to haul grain. In going around a steep bank the wagon accidentally upset throwing him against the fence straining his shoulder and otherwise hurting him, but he is slowly improving.

What “Paste” Is.

“Paste” from which imitation precious stones are made is widely known, but few are acquainted with the ingredients, though it is generally understood that the paste gains its brilliancy from the lead it contains. Formulas vary for the paste, but all contain rock crystal, red lead, carbonate of potash, borax and white arsenic. It is required that these articles shall be of a high grade of purity, as there is a considerable waste, so that the gems made from “strass,” as the composition is technically known, are by no means inexpensive. The lead gives to the strass its brilliancy, while the rock crystal contributes brilliancy. A paste diamond cannot scratch glass and is thus easily detected, but colored stones are made of crystal alone that are considerably harder than glass. In the making of these a crystal stone is hollowed out and filled with some colored liquid, the orifice being closed with a plug of crystal, which is ground down so that there is no trace of the junction.

Why the Eggs Didn't Hatch.

A famous Michigan egg raiser occasionally sells some of his product to his grocer, and some smart town people who thought they could get his eggs for hatching cheaper by buying from the grocer were disappointed when they found that none of the store eggs hatched out. Some one told the old man about the disappointment, and he expressed no surprise. He only said: “They should come to me for their setting eggs. Whoever hear o' buying settin' eggs in a grocer shop? When I sell eggs for eatin' I just dip the ends in boiling water—kill the germ. Them was eatin' eggs the grocer had. If these people want settin' eggs they should come to me honest like.”

Eating Snails.

Four Britons ate snails at a French restaurant in Brighton, England, not long ago. Their experiences are described as follows: “In due course the plates appeared, each bearing half a dozen snail shells of a dingy white. A slender two pronged fork accompanied each dish. With this the snails were jerked out, their big black horns coming first, accompanied by a small eruption of gravy. One of the experimenters looked critically at the uninviting object at the end of his fork, then he shut his eyes and popped it into his mouth. His teeth met on something yielding, but tough, rather suggestive of India rubber. All four epicures manfully ate their six snails.”

The Farmer's Individualism.

Farming is virtually the only great series of occupations that is unorganized, unincorporated, unmonopolized, uncontrolled, except as it is dominated by natural laws of commerce and the arbitrary limitations imposed by organization in other business. In a time of extreme organization and subordination of the individual, the farmer still retains his traditional individualism and economic separatism. His entire scheme of life rests on intrinsic earning by means of his own efforts. The scheme in most other businesses is to make profits, and these profits are often non-intrinsic and fictitious, as, for example, in the habit of gambling in stocks, in which the speculator, by mere shrewdness, turns over his money to advantage, but earns nothing in the process and contributes nothing to civilization in the effort. If the farmer steps outside of his own realm, he is met on one side by organized capital and on the other by organized labor. He is confronted by fixed earnings. What he himself secures is a remainder left at the end of a year's business.—From L. H. Bailey's "Why Do the Boys Leave the Farm?" in the July Century.

Responsibility of Disease Laid to the House Fly.

The musca domestica or common house-fly, says Mary Hinman Abel in her paper on "Flies and Food," in The Delineator for July, is known to convey cholera in the East, and is under suspicion as to other diseases.

Its origin and habits are such as to put us on our guard. It lays its eggs in excrement, preferring horse manure, but if that does not offer, readily using any other. It feeds on the same and on the sputum of diseased throats and lungs, on refuse of all kinds, and it bears on its hairy feet and legs particles of these substances.

Unlike the mosquito, the house-fly is not a biter—but it has its own way of carrying contagion. It deposits, wherever it goes, disease and disease germs may abound in its breeding and feeding places. On the joint of meat exposed for sale by the butcher, on the bread and sweetmeats of the confectioner's counter, on the edge of the milk pail, on the kitchen and dining room tables, they have been found.

Sensations During an Earthquake.

If one wants to know what it feels like to be in an earthquake, one need only read Henry Anderson Lafer's article in the July McClure's, "My Sixty Sleepless Hours, a story of the San Francisco Earthquake." Those 60 hours were packed full of drama, pathos, picturesqueness and humor for over 300,000 people and Mr. Lafer enables you to share it all with them. He says of the earthquake itself: "The tilting, heaving, throbbing roof, the thick, furious roar of falling walls, the whitish yellow dust that choked and blinded, these were the things that smote my senses; yet there was no fear. The twenty-eight seconds that the earthquake lasted were a period of the intensest cerebration of which the human brain is capable, all directed toward answering the question: 'What shall I do to save the life that is in me, and demands not to be miserably crushed out?'"

DANIEL STAUB has sold his small farm at Berlin Junction to Joseph Kuhn of Oxford township for $1700.

A TURTLE was found on farm near York Springs containing date and initial showing it to 60 years old.

The Story of an Invention.

The power loom was the invention of a farmer's boy, who had never seen or heard of such a thing. He fashioned one with his penknife, and when he got it all done he showed it with great enthusiasm to his father, who at once kicked it all to pieces, saying he would have no boy about him who would spend his time on such foolish things. The boy was sent to a blacksmith to learn a trade, and his master took a lively interest in him. He made a loom of what was left of the one his father had broken up and showed it to his master. The blacksmith saw he had a common boy as an apprentice, and that the invention was a valuable one. He had a loom constructed under the supervision of the boy. It worked to their perfect satisfaction, and the blacksmith furnished the means to manufacture the looms, and the boy received half the profits. In about a year the blacksmith wrote the boy's father that he should bring with him a wealthy gentleman, who was the inventor of the celebrated power loom. You may be able to judge of the astonishment at the old home when his son was presented to him as the inventor, who told him that the loom was the same as the model that he had kicked to pieces the previous year.

The Pointer.

There is as much fallacy in attempting to prove the origin of pointing as in like attempt to prove the origin of eating. As a matter of fact, the pointing and command exhibited by the pointer and setter is an incident of the capture or attempted capture of food by dogs, and also by wolves and foxes. Fables have been seen to draw and point on prairie dogs and grouse in precisely the same manner that the pointer and setter draw on game birds. There were the same rigidity and stealth, the pause to judge of distance and opportunity and the final rigid pause when all the energies are concentrated for the final spring to capture. All the phenomena displayed by the dog family indicate that the drawing and pointing in the pursuit of prey were ever natural traits. It may be reasonably believed that man could not breed the pointing instinct out of the dog if he attempted to do so.—Forest and Stream.

A Tragic Finish.

A watchman's neglect permitted a leak in the great North Sea dyke, which a child's finger could have stopped, to become a ruinous break, devastating an entire province of Holland. In like manner Kenneth McIver, of Vancoboro, Me., permitted a little cold to go unnoticed until a tragic finish was only averted by Dr. King's New Discovery. He writes: "Three doctors gave me up to die of lung inflammation, caused by a neglected cold; but Dr. King's New Discovery saved my life." Guaranteed best cough and cold cure, at all druggists. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

FRANK ECKERT of Bowlder had a finger badly mashed while operating a binder.

G. B. Burhans testifies after four years.

G. B. Burhans, of Carlisle Center, N. Y. writes: "About 4 years ago I wrote you stating that I had been entirely cured of a severe kidney trouble by taking less than two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure. It entirely stopped the brick dust sediment and pain and symptoms of kidney disease disappeared. I am glad to say that I have never had a return of any of those symptoms, during the four years that have elapsed and I am evidently cured to stay cured and heartily recommend Foley's Kidney Cure to any one suffering from kidney or bladder trouble. People's Drug Store."

HARRY MOOREHEAD of near York Springs found a black snake skin measuring 6 1/2 feet.

Only 82 Years Old.

"I am only 82 years old and don't expect even when I get to be real old to feel that way as long as I can get Electric Bitters," says Mrs. E. H. Brunson, of Dublin, Ga. Surely there's nothing else keeps the old as young and makes the weak as strong as this grand tonic medicine. Dyspepsia, torpid liver, inflamed kidneys or chronic constipation are unknown after taking Electric Bitters a reasonable time. Guaranteed by all druggists. Price 50c.

BILLY DAY of Huntington township lost a cow and goat last week by death.

Was in Poor Health For Years.

Ira W. Kelley of Mansfield, Pa., writes: "I was in poor health for two years, suffering from kidney and bladder trouble and spent considerable money consulting physicians without obtaining any marked benefit, but was cured by Foley's Kidney Cure, and I desire to add my testimony that it may be the cause of restoring the health of others." Refuse substitutes. People's Drug Store.

F. K. Haver lost a horse by death last week. He stopped in East Berlin and seeing that his horse was ill, put it in a stable and horse expired in a short time, heat causing death.

MINOT LEDGE LIGHTHOUSE.

The First One Was Swept Away With Its Occupants.

The first lighthouse on Minot's ledge was built in 1848. It was an octagonal tower resting on the tops of eight wrought iron piles eight inches in diameter and sixty feet high, with their bases sunk five feet in the rock. These piles were braced together in many ways, and, as they offered less surface to the waves than a solid structure, this lighthouse was considered by all authorities upon the subject to be exceptionally strong.

Its great test came in April, 1851. On the 14th of that month, two keepers being in the lighthouse, an easterly gale set in, steadily increasing in force. People on shore, and no doubt the keepers themselves, watched the heavy seas sweep harmlessly through the network of piles beneath the house and feared no harm. On the 15th, however, the wind and sea had greatly increased and the waves were flung higher and higher toward that tower in the air. Yet all thought they surely could not reach sixty feet above the ledge.

That night was one of keen anxiety, for the gale still increased, and all through that dreadful driving storm and darkness the faithful keepers were at their posts, for the light burned brightly. On Wednesday, the 16th, the gale had become a hurricane, and when at times the tower could be seen through the mists and sea drift it seemed to bend to the shock of the waves. At 4 o'clock that afternoon an ominous proof of the fury of the waves on Minot's ledge reached the shore, a platform which had been built between the piles only seven feet below the floor of the keepers' room. The raging seas then were leaping fifty feet higher, for if so the house and the keepers were doomed? Nevertheless, when darkness set in the light shone out as brilliantly as ever. But the gale seemed, if possible, then to increase. What agony those two men must have suffered! How that dreadful abode must have swayed in the irresistible hurricane, and trembled at each crashing sea! The poor unfortunate must have known that if those seas, leaping always higher and higher, reached their house it would be flung down into the ocean and they would be buried with it beneath the waves.

To those hopeless, terrified watchers the entombing sea came at last. At 1 o'clock in the morning the lighthouse bell was heard by those on shore to give a mournful clang, and the light was extinguished. It was the funeral knell of two patient heroes.

Next day there remained on the rock only eight jagged iron stumps.

How Fatigue Is Caused.

The fatigue felt after muscular exertion is chiefly due to the formation within the muscles themselves of certain nitrogenous poisons which are the result of chemical action going on and which have a paralyzing action on the muscular fibers. These poisons are formed by the breaking up of certain reserve materials which exist in the muscles without actually forming an essential portion of them. When these reserve materials are thus split up they give out energy which may be available as a source of heat or as a cause of motion. They accumulate in the tissues of persons who lead sedentary lives, and when such people take much exercise they are very liable to an attack of gout or feverish prostration, owing to the sudden accumulation within the blood of too many waste products for the kidneys to remove at once. The immunity from fatigue possessed by those who are continually exercising is due to the fact that these reserved materials have been gradually removed during the course of training and little remains capable of producing gony poisons when much exercise is taken.

The Critical Ages.

It is calculated that the amount of heat given off by the human body within twenty-four hours would be sufficient, if concentrated, to bring a nine inch cube of steel to a white heat. It is this heat which literally burns up the body, and the very first day that a man ceases to renew the tissues by taking food he loses about half a pound or a pound in weight. Brain workers give off a greater amount of heat than physical workers; hence they are more liable to collapse. After overwork they are obliged to lie up till they can obtain more capital—in other words, they have been consumed by the fire of the body at a quicker rate than it takes nature to supply a quantity of fresh tissue and muscle. The ages of twenty-one, twenty-eight, thirty-five and forty-two are the most critical periods of a person's lifetime, for at about these ages nature will have fitted the body out with new raw materials, which may or may not stand the test of the person's ever changing habits of life.

The Chone Tree.

Chone is the name given by the Kanakas to a tree which flourishes in New Caledonia. It reaches a height of forty feet and puts forth beautiful white flowers, having a perfume like that of jasmine. The chone is the Cerbera manghas of the botanist and belongs to the family of the apocynaceae. It yields a milky juice, like the India rubber tree, which when evaporated leaves a black gum that softens in boiling water, like gutta percha. It is impermeable, like gutta percha, but has the advantage of dissolving in petroleum. The solution painted or floated on wood and evaporated leaves a thin layer of the gum, impervious to water. Leather impregnated with the gum can remain in water for hours without becoming moist. Moreover, it makes an excellent water proof varnish for boots when it is dissolved in essence of turpentine.

HIS REWARD

(Original.)

Far back in the past when Europe was composed of petty kingdoms Jean Teterault, a country lord, drove his mule cart into the capital of his country, loaded with cabbages. He had scarcely passed the wall before he noticed flags flying from the houses, crowds in the streets and every appearance of a holiday.

"What is going on?" asked Jean, gazing.

"What is going on, stupid? Why, do you not know that the queen comes of age today?"

"The queen comes of age? What are they going to do?"

"She receives congratulations and presents and enters upon directing the government."

"Presents?"

"Yes, you fool, presents. Have you a present for her?"

"Why, no," Jean replied musingly, "unless she would accept my cabbages."

"The very thing," replied the informant. "Her majesty is very fond of them. I would advise you to offer them by all means."

Jean whipped up his mule and as soon as he had gone there came a burst of laughter from those who had heard the conversation, but Jean, not hearing it, drove to the palace, bent on laying his present at the queen's feet. Many loungers were there, and he said to one of them:

"I wish to see the queen."

"Oh, you do? Well, go right in there."

"I am going to offer her these cabbages. Will you watch them for me while I am gone?"

"Certainly. Here, comrades. This fellow has brought a load of cabbages for the queen."

Jean left his cabbages with them and, going to the door, joined with magnates who were going in to congratulate her majesty, and so dense was the crowd that he was not noticed by the attendants. Once in he was suffered to go on with the rest and soon found himself in a line near the throne.

When it came his turn to speak to the queen she drew back in surprise.

"I have come," said Jean, "to congratulate your majesty and have brought my present—a load of cabbages."

The attendants, seeing something was wrong, pressed forward to remove the countryman, but the queen would not permit. She asked Jean where his gift was and directed that it be brought into the palace; then, giving Jean her hand to kiss, she ordered that he be conducted to the door. There he found his guard, whose laughter was turned to astonishment at seeing an official of the palace conduct Jean and his cart to the royal kitchen.

Ten years passed. The queen was at war, and the marshal in command of her forces was driving everything before him. In his army was a general who had risen from the ranks. Having a genius for war he had risen rapidly and now commanded one of the wings of the army. One day he was missing from his command. He had gone secretly to the capital and solicited an audience with the queen, which was immediately granted.

"What, general, can be the meaning of your return from the front at such a time?" asked the queen in surprise.

"Certainly the marshal needs your services."

"I have come to warn your majesty of danger."

"Danger? What danger? Have not my armies been successful everywhere?"

"Too successful, your majesty. Success has turned our leader's head. He proposes to march back to the capital, seize the treasury, enrich his generals, give to the men plentifully, depose his sovereign and put himself in her place."

The queen paled; then suddenly recovering her confidence she said angrily, "Give me proof of this or march away from the palace to your execution."

The general produced a paper signed by the marshal which had been sent him for his signature. It stipulated that for his support of the intended movement he was to receive a fortune. The queen well knew the marshal's signature and sank down overcome.

"Who will save me?" she cried.

"I will," said the general. "Give me the command of your troops and I will hold them to their duty."

"Can you?"

"I am sure of it."

"And why have you alone stood by me?"

"Do you remember the day you came of age and how a countryman ignorant of royal ways brought you a load of cabbages for a present?"

"I do."

"And your majesty instead of turning him over to be flogged accepted his present and permitted him to kiss your royal hand?"

"I do."

"I am that peasant. I will save your throne for you."

The queen quickly called for pen and paper and in a moment General Teterault was appointed commander of all her forces. As she handed him the paper she said:

"If you are faithful and succeed your reward shall be—"

"Pardon me, your majesty. I prefer to fix my own reward."

A few months later General Teterault rode into the capital at the head of a victorious and loyal army. Alighting at the palace he was received by his sovereign.

"Your reward, general?" she asked after her congratulations.

"That I may once more kiss your majesty's hand."

FLORENCE ETHEL CROSBY.

COPPERPLATE ENGRAVING.

The Art Was Discovers Through the Merest Accident.

Every one has noticed on his visiting card the extremely delicate lines of his name, and almost every one knows that they are produced by printing upon an engraved copperplate. Like many other things of use and beauty, this art of copperplate engraving was discovered through the merest accident. In the sixteenth century, a Florentine, who, however, that one day an engraver on gold, wishing to take a proof of his work, made the usual stipple cast and then filled up the lines with lampblack, thus enabling him to see exactly how his work looked. While occupied in doing this it occurred to him that possibly the same results could be obtained by filling up the original engraving with lampblack instead of making an impression of it and filling up that. Struck with the idea, he put it into practical use, and with a little damp paper succeeded in getting a fair impression from the engraving.

The discovery was communicated to other workers in the art, and they hailed it with joy, as it saved all the arduous trouble of making sulphur casts, but they never saw the full value of the discovery, and consequently the art of plate engraving lay for almost a century before its true import was discovered and brought out in all its great and beautiful results. Today collectors of plate engravings have over the crude results of earlier times and search the world for examples of these early masters to add to their collections. Many of these collections have been presented to museums, where they may be seen and appreciated by the people.

THE BEST SLEEP.

It Is That Which One Cannot Avoid Without a Struggle.

When debating the question, How much sleep is needed? one must keep in mind that the best sleep, indeed, the only healthy kind, is that which one cannot avoid without a struggle. It is the sleep that always follows on weariness; it is not that which is obtained by difficulty. If a person slept for three hours right away and then awoke refreshed—that is, with no further inclination to sleep—he would not then be in need of it. His proper course would be to arise and engage in work. But he must be prepared to sleep at any time in the day when the longing occurs. To the latter rule there is one exception. Let us suppose that one has acquired the habit of sleeping half the night and lying half awake during the remaining half. Such a habit can be best broken by rising after the first sleep and refraining from a nap in the day. When the bed hour arrives the chances are that the victim of insomnia will be so sleep hungry that he will not wake until the proper hour for rising.

In any case it is a great mistake to turn over on the other side and remain in a half conscious state. Indeed, it is a more serious mistake than many would believe, says Home Notes. The brain is now in a peculiar state, more closely resembling the hypnotic than would be possible under any other normal conditions. Quite a lot might be written about the peculiar dangers and powers of this half waking state.

Not to Be Found in the Reports.

A prominent Philadelphia lawyer was narrating to a younger advocate some of the delays and complications of a chancery suit in which he was engaged. "Bless me," said the junior advocate, "I never heard of anything parallel to that except Jarndyce versus Jarndyce." The other at once looked thoughtful and pretty soon, pleading an engagement, went off. The next morning he went into the younger man's office with an air of great vexation. "Look here," he said, "Why can't you remember names accurately? Here I've spent the whole night trying to find that case of Jarndyce versus Jarndyce that you mentioned, and there isn't any such case in the Pennsylvania law reports at all!"

The Word "Papa."

For some time after the word "papa" was taken into the English language in the seventeenth century it was restricted to courtly and polite speech, and was common even among adults. Long after it had become childish it was still somewhat genteel. Hood wrote of one who was "gently taught to say, not father, but papa." "Papa" may be comparatively a new-comer into the English language, but it is as old as Homer. Nausicaa in the "Odyssey" calls her father "pappia pidiu."

Canals and Roads in France.

It is estimated that the French, who have been so long most anxious to facilitate the progress of life, should be the people to have the most perfect system of canals and roads in the world, more perfect still than that, when most perfect, they are still careful not to sacrifice the purely graceful or decorative. The roads and canals are built for use, but between their scented ranks of poplars they become so many stately groves and avenues, crossing the country from end to end.—Century.

Nagsby—You're naturally pessimistic. I don't think I ever saw you look cheerful. Carsby—Ah, that's easily explained: Nagsby—How so? Carsby—You didn't know me before I was married.—Illustrated Bits.

Matrimony.

Matrimony resembles a pair of shears, so joined that they cannot be separated, often moving in opposite directions, yet always punishing any one who comes between them.—J. Smith.
